

Five more A-list hideaways

Frégate Private Island, Seychelles

Elizabeth Hurley's marriage was one long photo opportunity, but her Seychellois honeymoon was 100% lens-free luxury. This eco-chic resort is discretion central: 16 totally tropical villas, surrounded by seven beaches and 500 acres of rainforest. Brad and Jen, and Paul and Heather, also honeymooned here.

Oh dear, I fear a curse coming on. And it doesn't come cheap either — Abercrombie & Kent (0845 070 0611, www.abercrombiekent.co.uk) has a week from £6,849pp, full-board.

Las Alamandas, Mexico

A two-hour drive from Puerto Vallarta, there are 1,500 acres of pristine beaches and lagoons bursting with bird life, as well as a 10:1 staff/guest ratio, at this celebrity magnet. The first name in the register was Robert De Niro; Madonna, Jennifer Aniston and Cindy Crawford have also sought stylish seclusion here. Exsus (020 7292 5060, www.exsus.com) has a week from £3,180pp, full-board.

Domaine des Andéols, France

This is where Russell Crowe keeps his head down. The Domaine has taken over an entire Provençal hamlet on a remote hillside surrounded by lakes, woodland and orchards. The nine houses are eclectically decorated, but you won't forget you're in France: there's an Alain Ducasse restaurant. Original Travel (020 7978 7333, www.originaltravel.co.uk) has three nights from £438pp, B&B.

Wakaya Club, Fiji

Nicole Kidman adores this private island's back-to-basics buves (Fijian for cottages). You want Wi-Fi? Wakaya's nine suites don't even have phones, just romantic four-posters with the finest Fili D'oro linen, and open-air lava-rock showers. Audley (01869 276240, www.audleytravel.com) has a week from £4,750pp, all in.

Rosa Alpina, Italy

The world's sexiest man keeps things low key: George Clooney holidays in a village in the Dolomites, where the first language is a rare, Latin-based dialect called Ladinó. The hotel, admirably underplayed, is a former priest house dating from the 19th century; heavy on the wooden beams, frescoes and fireplaces, it also has one of Italy's best restaurants. Scott Dunn (020 8682 5080, www.scottdunn.com) has a week from £1,260pp, B&B.
